Waveland judge resigns

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Waveland Municipal Court Judge Aaron Adams reported Friday his resignation had been accepted by Mayor John Longo.

Adams, who has served in this capacity for the past five years, had requested a substantial raise from the city because of the lengthy hours involved.

Adams said he has enjoyed working with the people of Waveland but felt the economics of the situation necessitated his resignation.

"Waveland Police Chief, Donald Dorn runs a fine police department and the policemen in the department are dedicated public servants, doing a difficult job under difficult circumstances," Adams said.

"Waveland has every reason to be proud of everyone of them," he added.

In addition to the salary raise requested, Adams said his resignation was also a result of the relocation of his law offices from Waveland to Bay St. Louis.

Longo said he wished Adams well. He added that he planned to recommend John C. Chevis Jr. to the aldermen as a replacement.

HURRICANE FLOODING

Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense is sponsoring a community meeting on questions of before-during-after hurricane flooding at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 18 at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School cafeteria, Pearlrington. The event is open to the public and is designed to be of special interest to the residents of Pearlrington.

Elderly housing proposal presented to Bay council

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Claude Bourgeois of Sun Management Tuesday requested approval from the Bay St. Louis City Council to build a housing complex for elderly and handicapped persons.

The 60-unit complex would be operated by the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi and be located on seminary property near Bay Royal Apartments.

The board took the matter under advisement and gave an initial agreement for the project in order that federal funds could be requested.

However, the council asked for additional information on the project.

The complex would provide housing for singles or married couples with a maximum income of $7,500.

Mayor Larry Bennett said that Catholic Charities currently operated similar housing complexes in Biloxi, Ocean Springs and Jackson.

Although each unit will be equipped with a kitchen, residents will be required to eat one meal in the complex dining room.

The meals will be cooked in a cafeteria located in the complex or catered.

Also at the meeting, the board authorized the mayor to sign an easement with the L&N Railroad so the widening and repaving project can get underway on Central Avenue.

The project will be funded by $140,000 of state and federal funds and the city will supply 25 percent matching money.

The board also gave authorization for advertising of bids for the project.

Chamber plans two political forum dates

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor separate political forums for candidates seeking the Bay St. Louis mayoral and councilmanic positions.

The forum for mayoral candidates is scheduled Wednesday, May 1, 7 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Third Street, Bay St. Louis.

Shortly thereafter, the chamber also will sponsor a political forum for council candidates.

Purpose of the forums is to allow the public an opportunity to hear all candidates running for mayor and councilmen in the Bay St. Louis elections.

The chamber encourages all interested citizens to call in or write to the chamber office as soon as possible to submit questions and issues which they want addressed to the candidates.

The chamber's address is Post Office Box 103, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520; phone number is 467-9048.

County shifts code back to commission

By DENA BISNETTE

The question of a county-wide building code has again been placed before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

The board, however, has passed the problem back to the County Planning Commission.

The supervisors discussed the building code Monday after Malcolm Tullier of Shoreline Park presented the board with a letter signed by Shoreline Park Civic Association President Kenneth Hurt.

Hurt's letter requested that the board give "serious consideration" to passing a building code, at least for the southern part of the county.

"Without a code governing the southern portion of our county, we will never improve our lifestyle," the letter stated.

Representatives of the Shoreline Park Civic Association and other communities in southern Hancock County have repeatedly appeared before the board to complain of problems with improper sewage disposal and the construction of substandard housing.

Also addressing the board was Arthur P. Leimeweber Jr. of Jourdan River Shores.

Leimeweber told the supervisors that unscrupulous contractors have been taking advantage of county residents through lack of a building code.

He said he has seen numerous structures that are questionable as far as safety is concerned.

In addition, he alleged that substandard lumber has been provided for some residential construction jobs and said contractors have failed to reject the material.

"I can show you pilings under houses that are bowed so badly you can see it," Leimeweber said, "but the houses are already built so there isn't much that can be done."

He said a building code could prevent further problems of this type.

The board has previously considered the possibility of passing a building code for the southern part of the county only.

A board of supervisors has the authority to pass a building code for the entire county, but can not pass a code for just part of the county without obtaining authorization from the state legislature through a local and private bill.

According to Board President and Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Kellar, the board had passed a resolution concerning a local and private bill but never attempted to have one passed during this legislative session. January is the next chance.

All five supervisors agreed that no further attempts to establish a piecemeal building code should be made.

"It's all or nothing," Kellar said.

According to Kellar, the board would need a copy of the Southern Building Code, which is used in most of the state; and a list of amendments to the code designed to fit the needs of Hancock County.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge amended a motion to ask the planning commission to provide the needed information.

Although all five board members indicated support for the idea, Kellar said the matter had already been turned over to the commission.

"That's been done a half-dozen times already," Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Lader protested.

Courge amended his motion to request only that the commission provide estimates on the cost of implementing and enforcing a building code.

The board accepted the motion unanimously. However, Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca stressed the importance of informing the public that any building code the board may enact will apply to residential construction only and not "hoggens and outbuildings."

Marina grant application stalled for study results, Taylor says

By DENA BISNETTE

Efforts to obtain funding for the construction of a proposed marina at Bayou Cadet are on hold pending the completion of a preliminary study financed by the Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources.

Jeff Taylor and Kathy Moon of Gulf Regional Planning Commission and Kathy Garner of South Mississippi Planning and Development District addressed problems involved in funding the project Monday at a meeting with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Port and Harbor Director James DeBlanc, Carlos Cordon of Borgen

Engineering and State Senator Gene Taylor.

According to Jeff Taylor, two major problems have been holding up applications for a $500,000 Community Development Block Grant that might provide the funding needed to begin work on the 200-slip marina.

The first is the unavailability of specific cost estimates. However, Taylor said that problem should be remedied in 30 to 60 days when the BMR study is completed.

The second is the lack of a guarantee that the county can obtain other funding to offset the block grant, which can provide only part of the $2.5 million the marina is presently expected to cost.

So far, the only firm commitment of funding has been a resolution by the supervisors, who have agreed to provide $500,000 through revenue bonds.

"The project really has to be put together, especially regarding where the money will come from, before the grant application can be submitted," Jeff Taylor said.

"You can't build a project on the possibility of getting a grant and the $500,000 the supervisors have promised," he added.

The possibility of cutting some of the costs by using workers already employed by the county has been limited because the state auditor's office has tightened its enforcement of restrictions on projects utilizing county personnel.

He recommended that the construction of a marina be added to the Port and Harbor Commission's list of priorities, but DeBlanc said commission funds are presently tied up in improvements for Stennis Airport.

Other possible source of funding, according to Moon, include a Business Incentive Program operated through the state's Employment Security Commission. That program could help the project if the county could guarantee that contractors building the marina would hire some of the program participants.

"This could create as many as 400 jobs, but we have some people down there who would like to go on with planned improvements for their businesses and not wait until the boatslips are ready," she said.

"This is a unique situation because you have private businesses down there, and the people who operate them want to be part of the project. They're willing to expand their businesses at their own expense," Jeff Taylor commented.

A second idea for additional funding came from Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, who suggested getting either Waveland or Bay St. Louis to work with the county on the project.

According to Courge, collaborating with a municipality could make the proposed marina eligible for a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers program that would offer some assistance with dredging, one of the largest expenses involved.

Another option discussed was cutting the cost of the project by building fewer boat slips.

Supervisors approve Hancock site lease

MISSISSIPPI
 Hancock County Board of Supervisors approved a proposed lease for a site owned by the county for the use of the Port of Bienville Inc.

The lease, which went to the county employee Ralph R. Bergeron, had been approved by the supervisors after the supervisors questioned the former Bergeron lease, which was approved by the county board in 1979.

The board, however, approved the proposed lease after a unanimous roll-call vote.

The board stated last month that the site would be leased to the Port of Bienville Inc. to whatever use the majority of the board desired.

The board also moved out of the industrial zone about two years ago.

tative for Union of Operating Engineers Local 624.

Page asked the board for assistance in encouraging more hiring of local contractors by Borg-Warner, one of the industries at Port Bienville.

He asked the board to look into complaints he has received concerning Borg-Warner's alleged preference for hiring out-of-state contractors.

"We're not trying to push the union, but we are getting concerned about being able to work for this firm," Page explained.

The supervisors informed Page that they had gone on record April 1 with plans to meet with Borg-Warner officials about hiring more local contractors.

In addition Monday, the board adopted the reappraisal map as the county's official map and agreed to take bids on lowering a ceiling in the tax assessor's new office to increase the efficiency of the building's air conditioner.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Periniario appointed Johnny Favre as constable. Favre will replace the late William Carbonette until November, when a new constable will be elected.

Board President A.A. Kellar requested and received approval for a resolution asking that the Mississippi Legislature call a special session to revise the effects of reappraisal.

The board also heard a brief report from Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, who outlined the information the Hancock-Harrison County Sandbeach Technical Advisory Committee obtained on a recent trip to Florida.

The supervisors will meet again at 8 a.m. April 30.

new channel in Bay St. Louis is now," according to Ellis.

"The FCC intends to use a 'window' procedure, allowing a relatively short time for filing of applications."

Much of the preliminary work, such as finding a suitable antenna site, arranging financing and setting up the ownership structure of the station can be accomplished before the FCC begins for the actual filing of applications," he said.

The channel approved for Bay St. Louis would be on a frequency of 94.5 MHz, and could have a transmitting power of 3,000 Watts, sufficient to cover an area of 712 square miles around Bay St. Louis, according to the engineer.

Theatre production fun, despite confusing script

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's current production, "How the Other Half Loves," begins tonight and runs through Saturday.

The play, an Alan Ayckbourn comedy that simultaneously shows the events in two different households, has a script that could become confusing without good comic timing.

However, its cast of six turns in a fun performance which actually assists the audience in following the complex script.

Gayle Roy and Edgar Perez, both of Bay St. Louis, play Fiona and Frank Foster, one of three couples involved in a plot showing the confusion that can result from lying to one's spouse.

Roy, as Mrs. Foster, keeps her acting subtle by using her voice more than her face. Changes in tone, aided by gestures, convey most of her emotions, which range from a slightly exasperated attitude toward her husband to desperation as she attempts to cancel a date with her lover.

Perez, especially in the first act, is slow on the delivery of his lines. However, he capitalizes on that slowness in playing Foster, who spends most of his time on stage wandering around confused by the real world because his mind is full of inaccurate conclusions about his wife's affair.

Penny Kelley and George Welman, both of Heron Bay, play the second couple involved, Bob and Teresa Phillips.

In playing Phillips, Welman's strongest point is comic timing. He shows versatility by using this timing equally well during slower scenes and quick action.

Examples of the extremes are his first appearance on stage, where he attempts to argue with an uninterested Teresa, and a scene where he is assaulted by a character who thinks Phillips has led his wife astray.

Kelley, as Mrs. Phillips, is one of the two most consistent actors in the production, helping to keep up a pace that drags a little in the first act. Her character offers her a range of emotions from boredom to anger and she executes them all as though she actually feels them.

The wife in the third couple, who become involved through lies the two unfaithful spouses use as explanations for coming home late, is Mary Detweiler, played by Anita C. Jacobs of Long Beach.

Jacobs is good throughout the play, but steals the show when two dinner scenes occur simultaneously and she is involved in both. She alternates between playing a terrified witness to a domestic conflict and a nervous, overly polite dinner guest with split-second changes.

Her husband, Tom Jacobs, plays her stage husband, William Detweiler.

The director of the play is Nan Patton Ehrbright, who is required to block action so that two simultaneous scenes can occur onstage without the characters of one interfering with those in the other.

She shows particular expertise in this with the dinner scene.

Also deserving special mention are the set designers, who include

Ehrbright, play producer Becky Rotundo, Rick Rotundo and Tim Bourgeois. By mixing two completely different furniture designs, they have depicted the Foster and Phillips living rooms without dividing the stage in half.

Curtain time at the Boardman Avenue Playhouse is 8:15 all three nights. Single admission tickets are $5 while season tickets for three productions are $10.

Bay St. Louis production of "How The Other Half Loves" which opens tonight April, 18 at the Boardman Street Theatre. The play will begin at 8:15 p.m.

COUNCILMAN - WARD 4

Pd. pol. adv. by John Wilkerson

Let's Return City Hall To Citizens and Taxpayers

My letter to you is a personal message about our city and its future. As you may know, I am a qualified candidate for Mayor of Bay St. Louis:

Your help and influence are needed to bring honest and efficient government to our community. I ask for your support in this important undertaking.

It is my intention to return City Hall to the taxpayers. Your tax dollars can be spent wisely and efficiently to upgrade city services, and to meet our projected growth with a master plan that looks to the future with practical means to take us into a new era of prosperity.

I am not politically obligated to any faction. This is why I can bring a personal honesty and integrity to City Hall.

My experience in the private sector gives me a working background to city services. I have been a mechanical contractor, drilled water wells, and have successfully run a home improvement business. I am an active Real Estate Broker, have done appraisal work, and operate the Big "E" Grocery and Seafood.

Experience, determination, honesty, integrity and...enthusiasm are my capabilities to be your next mayor of Bay St. Louis.

We can do it. We can change things. With your help and support our beloved city can progress in a conservative and constructive path.

Any support you can give this undertaking...at the polls, as you vote, calling friends on the phone, ringing doorbells, financial contributions, a sign in your yard, whatever...will bring about a change-of, by, and for the people.

Sincerely,

Kelvin Schulz

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, located on Boardman Avenue in Cedar Point begins its 1985 season tonight.

Alan Ayckbourn's comedy, "How the Other Half Loves," the first play of the season's curtain time will be 8:15 p.m., also on Friday and Saturday.

We have been told the cast of six has been working very hard and long hours and should be ready to give theatre goers an evening of tremendous entertainment.

The play's director is Nan Patton Ehrbright, and we know she will do a splendid job.

Echo staff member Edgar Perez is in the cast, and reporter Brenda Heathcock is the play's stage manager.

So, if you are looking for something to do, you may want to try the Little Theatre tonight, Friday or Saturday.

Then on Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon, The Waveland Players will stage "Subject to Change," and over-50 adult-situation comedy.

Curtain times will be 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

All proceeds from the Sunday matinee will go towards the Hancock General Hospital Indigent Patient Fund.

"Subject to Change" is produced and directed by Tomyann Fitch and Ted Stechmann. The play has a large cast.

This is another neat opportunity for local theatre goers.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

STUDY SUPPORTS FARMERS DEBT RESCHEDULING PROPOSAL

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says a recently completed study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture supports his proposal to reschedule debt of farmers suffering the burdens of delinquent Farmers Home Administration loans through a tree planting program.

Cochran said the feasibility study confirms that certain Southern farmers, particularly those suffering more serious debt problems, could avoid bankruptcy by FmHA allowing the farmers with delinquent loans to pay off their loans with money generated from timber planted on land they previously used to grow crops or used as pasture land.

"For some of our farmers who have suffered the most from the recent years of low profits and high interest rates, this study confirms that we can provide an alternative that will allow them to hold on to their land and homes," Cochran said.

The study revealed that between 8.5 and 18 percent of the borrowers in a seven-Southern state area, including Mississippi, could amortize debt from the revenue of pine trees planted on their land. This percentage represents about 4,300 borrowers and 2.4 million acres in the study area.

Senator Cochran said he will be contacting officials at the Department of Agriculture and urging them to prepare regulations to implement such a tree planting program.

"Forest product production in our state has exceeded $480 million annually. I'm convinced that increased timber production is one of the keys to the economic development of our state," Cochran said.

Small-business Angle

by John Sloan

NO WAY TO CUT A DEFICIT

Invoking the name of deficit reduction, OMB Director David Stockman has placed the Small Business Administration upon the sacrificial altar. Not content with the 27 percent funding cut borne by the agency in 1981, Mr. Stockman now wants to kill it outright.

Yet killing the SBA would not serve the best interests of small businesses. Nor would it make a visible dent in the federal deficit.

SBA expenditures are but a drop in the overflowing deficit bucket. Wiping out the agency wouldn't offset as much as a day's worth of deficit spending at next year's projected level of $250 billion.

The National Federation of Independent Business—long a severe and vocal critic of the SBA—has put forth a detailed proposal to radically restructure the agency. If adopted, the plan would maintain key SBA financial services—at no cost to taxpayers—and preserve SBA programs that actually save money. At the same time, it would scrap failed programs and require all others to demonstrate cost-efficiency or face extinction.

NFIB would eliminate SBA direct lending programs because they are too costly and help too few. Last year, the SBA had direct loan losses of more than $26 million and made fewer than 2,300 direct loans.

The guaranteed loan program would be completely revamped, becoming financially self-supporting, similar to Sallie Mae. A higher guarantee fee and repayments from outstanding direct loans would be channeled into a loss reserve pool to make the program entirely self-funded—and able to serve an unlimited number of small businesses.

NFIB would shut down the Small Business Development Centers. A survey of NFIB members found no hope that SBDs, a dismal failure to date, would ever become a trusted source of management advice. Small-business owners just aren't inclined to seek, much less follow, counseling from academics. Eliminating this one program would slash SBA Management Assistance spending by more than half.

Proven or promising management assistance programs would be retained. However, SBA should charge participants a modest fee to offset the administrative costs of offering these services.

The SBA's procurement division, which opens government contracting to competitive bidding among small firms, would also be retained. Last year, this tiny division, operating on a $12 million budget, saved government agencies at least $75 million. The government can't afford to do away with any program that yields a 6-for-1 return on investment.

Finally, the NFIB would salvage SBA's Office of Advocacy, the small business in-house watchdog which monitors proposed rules and laws and speaks out on behalf of the small-business owner.

The NFIB reforms would allow the "new" SBA to provide critically important services while cutting its costs immediately by 62 percent. Once all the recommendations come to fruition, the agency could operate at virtually no cost to taxpayers.

Mr. Stockman's proposal is neither economically nor politically savvy. And it's no way to fight a $250 billion deficit.

(John Sloan is president of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.)

LENS IMPLANTS

Q: My grandmother, who is in her eighties and is bedridden, is scheduled to have a lens implant after cataract surgery. Will she be able to see without glasses again?

A: Each year, approximately 600,000 people, most of them over the age of 70, have lens implants following cataract surgery. The small plastic lens, implanted behind the iris of the eye, is permanent, requires no maintenance, and provides virtually distortion-free sight.

Although some people do not need eyeglasses after intraocular lenses are implanted, most require conventional eyeglasses or reading glasses.

Normally, the lens of the eye is transparent. Over time, however, a cataract makes the lens cloudy or opaque and reduces vision. Medications are not effective in treating a cataract, and clearing away the film is not possible because the cataract is a change within the lens, not on the surface. Cataract surgery removes the natural lens of the eye.

A lens, however, is necessary to focus light so the eye can distinguish images. Lens implants are one way to replace the focusing power of the natural lens. Cataract glasses and contact lenses also may be used.

Cataract spectacles are heavier and thicker than ordinary eyeglasses, and magnify objects by about 25 percent. The limit peripheral vision and cause objects to look distorted. It usually takes some time before a person adjusts to these changes.

Contact lenses, which float on the eye's natural layer of tears, are available in two types, daily-wear lenses and extended-wear lenses.

Daily-wear lenses are worn during the day and removed at bedtime. Extended-wear lenses may be worn for several weeks at a time.

Although they provide clear vision, they also have some drawbacks. They require maintenance and regular check-ups with an ophthalmologist. Elderly people, particularly if they suffer from arthritis in their hands, also may have difficulty inserting and removing contact lenses.

Some physicians will not recommend intraocular lens implants for patients under the ages of 60, who can usually handle contact lenses quite well. Physicians also are generally reluctant to perform a lens implant on a patient who has only one functioning eye.

Some doctors will not do implants on patients with diabetic retinopathy, severe diabetic disease or glaucoma that is not being controlled.

Unless there are other medical reasons to indicate that a patient should be hospitalized, cataract surgery and implantation of an intraocular lens—only one eye is operated on at a time—is done under local anesthetic on an outpatient basis. The whole procedure takes less than one hour.

This "Matter of Health" was prepared in cooperation with the ophthalmologists and staff of the University of Mississippi Medical Center, Mississippi's only health sciences campus. Readers may suggest topics by writing to "Matters of Health," the University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, MS 39218-4505.

Attorney General cautions against transient contractors

Attorney General Ed Pittman is alerting Mississippians that transient vendors are once again surfacing in Mississippi.

Each year, particularly during the Spring and Summer months, residents of Mississippi experience an influx of "out-of-state" unscrupulous home repair contractors. These individuals travel throughout the state committing various types of fraud and swindles. Their victims are primarily elderly persons, Pittman said.

Claiming to be roofers, painters, carpenters, siding installers, etc., these operators attempt to take advantage of the homeowner's springtime impulse to clean and fix up.

The sales approach of the fly-by-night contractors follow certain patterns:

—Without notice, a salesman or repairman comes to your door and offers you a special, introductory, low price for home repair or construction.

—A painter, siding salesman or roofer offers you a special price if you let him use your house as a model or demonstrator to show to other possible customers.

—A home repair contractor comes to your house and offers to do work at a cheap rate because his equipment and crew "just happen to be in the neighborhood" or that he has an unused load of gravel or asphalt in his truck.

—A repairman offers to spray your roof or driveway with a sealer for a bargain price.

Their attraction appears to be a cheap price and quick work. Unfortunately, their stock in trade is "hit and run"; they do inferior work, accept payment, and leave the area before their work is found to be unsatisfactory.

The practitioners of these schemes are clever, Pittman said. They usually take a look at the exterior of your house before coming to the door. Consequently, the work they offer to do will probably be work that you have already considered getting done.

No group or class of consumer is free from such operators, but the elderly seem particularly susceptible, he said; perhaps because they sometimes live in older homes or because they are more tempted by price-saving offers since their income is usually fixed.

In addition to treating with special caution the stranger who comes to your door, there are procedures to follow when doing business with any contractor. First, get the names and addresses of several local contractors. One good way of doing this is to ask friends and neighbors who have had work done. Next, ask these contractors to come to your home and see the work you want done. Ask him:

—What the work will involve;
—When he would be able to begin;
—How long it would take him to complete the work;
—The total cost;
—What guarantees he provides;
—The method of payment (the full amount when work is completed, periodic, etc.).

Then ask the contractors you are impressed with to give you a firm, written estimate containing a specific description of the work to be done, a description of the kind and quality of materials to be used, and the total price.

Reports about the workmanship of the contractor from friends, your feelings about the contractor's reliability, the amount of work time involved, the guarantee offered should all enter into the decision along with the price.

Pittman hopes that by alerting you to these kinds of schemes and tactics, you will be protected against loss of property by fraud and trickery. Please report any fraudulent contacts at once, remembering names, locations, descriptions and details so that the police can catch these conmen before they have a chance to victimize others.

Mayoral candidate proposes new utility bill pay plan

Bay St. Louis mayoral candidate Vic Franckiewicz proposed a new utility bill payment policy at a rally Sunday.

Franckiewicz said that he would extend the bill payment period from 12 to 25 days and provide a level payment program so that high utility bills can be spread over several months.

"This proposal is intended to help those on fixed incomes, especially the elderly. Many times, those living on fixed incomes can't pay their utility bill in 12 days no matter how hard they try," the candidate stated.

Bay St. Louis' current billing policy considers a customer delinquent unless the bill is paid in 12 days.

Franckiewicz noted that many people are allowed more time, but extensions are granted on a case-by-case basis with "too much room for political favoritism."

The new policy will provide fair treatment to all utility system customers, he feels.

His proposed level payment program is similar to that used in many commercial companies.

High bills during the winter can be spread over several months when bills are generally lower. The even payments will allow people to meet their bills regularly and plan their budgets better.

"This new policy will help people who honestly try to keep up with their bills. It will be fairly administered so that our citizens—especially the elderly on fixed incomes—do not have to suffer the indignity of asking for political favors to meet their utility bills," according to Franckiewicz.

Seuzeneau seeking reelection to council

Sheldon M. Seuzeneau, councilman Ward 4 in Bay St. Louis, has announced his candidacy for reelection.

Seuzeneau, self-employed, is owner of Mark Sheldon Enterprises, Mary Carter Paint Store and Mini-Blinds Unlimited. He was elected councilman four years ago.

He is a democrat, a member of Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, and Pass Christian Isles Golf Club.

Seuzeneau, a life long resident of manager of the Engineering Development Support Organization involved in development, qualification and reliability testing of the Saturn 5 booster to the moon.

Seuzeneau said prior to his election as Ward 4 Councilman, he made no promises to the electorate, but that he was for a long time fully aware of:

- the severe drainage problems in Spanish Acres;
- the need for water and sewerage facilities in the annexed areas;
- the dire need for natural gas line improvements;
- street renovations;
- and a myriad of other problems.

He said, upon assuming office he immediately became a motivating force to alleviate these problems and many have been resolved or are in progress.

Seuzeneau continued, the present office bears little resemblance to the office when he was elected with the hopes and good faith of citizens.

Nearly everything has changed, except his 'honest, stubborn determination to continue to move this city forward,' the candidate stated.

He had been teaching in the Jefferson Parish School System since September 1982. He taught physical education and coached boys' basketball and baseball and girls' basketball and softball.

Sills' past was exposed after he was appointed acting principal of Grand Isle High School in the wake of an investigation of Principal Steve Savoie, who has been accused of personal and professional misconduct, including sexual harassment of female employees.

A Jefferson Parish School Board member said 'Sills just left.'

According to School Board Attorney Jack Grant, the school personnel department knew that Sills had been charged with embezzlement when they hired him.

Sills had been sentenced to three years probation and fined $9,000 in connection with the embezzlement charge.

Bodden pleads guilty to manslaughter charge

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Walter S. Bodden, 21, of New Orleans pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter this week in Hancock County Circuit Court.

Bodden, who had been scheduled to be tried this week in connection with the death of Carlos Cordoba, told Judge James Thomas he had been friends with Cordoba for four or five years before the July 1984 incident.

Cordoba's body was discovered approximately two hours after the incident on Interstate 10.

Bodden said Cordoba, Albert Samora and he had been together most of the day of the incident which left Cordoba dead from a gunshot wound in the neck.

According to Bodden, the gun involved in the accident belonged to Cordoba and that it was in Cordoba's hand at the time of the fatal discharge.

Bodden said he was trying to get Cordoba to calm down after an argument with Samora.

He told the judge, Cordoba had already fired one shot and so he grabbed Cordoba's hand and during the scuffle the gun fired again and Cordoba fell to the ground.

Bodden said he did not know what to do then so he got in the car and left.

Judge Thomas said that was the biggest mistake of Bodden's life.

Bodden later turned himself in to the New Orleans Police.

Thomas accepted Bodden's guilty plea and requested that a presentence report be prepared which is to include a polygraph test of Bodden's story.

He told Bodden to be prepared for a 20-year sentence to serve if he was picked up on any charge before his sentencing hearing.

Thomas sentenced Dwight L. Lott to five years each on five charges of uttering forgery to run concurrent.

Lott is also facing charges as an habitual offender on forgery charges in Pearl River County.

Wildlife lets beach contracts

Five contracts for work on the planning stages of beachfront improvements in Hancock and Harrison counties have been awarded by the Mississippi Commission of Wildlife Conservation.

The contracts, totalling $134,000, will be financed by $72,000 from redirected federal Coastal Energy Impact Program funds; $41,000 in federal Coastal Zone Management funds and $15,000 in matching funds pledged by cities and counties involved in the project.

The contractors will do the preliminary work toward the drafting of a master plan for the improvements.

They were selected recently by members of the Harrison-Hancock County Beach Study Executive Committee, a group overseeing a seven-month-old preliminary study still under way.

Contractors include Ralph M. Fields and Associates of Hartford, Conn., $40,000 for planning for a special management area; Cashio, Cochran and Torre Design, Consortium of New Orleans, $30,000 for design; and Gulf Regional Planning Commission, $34,000 for financial analysis work and other parts of the project.

Also included are Robert Dean, a beach erosion consultant for the state of Florida, $20,000 for erosion studies; and University of Mississippi Law School, $10,000 for legal research on issues involved in beach development.

The master plan will include proposals for the development of each city's waterfront, ideas for new facilities and an outline of erosion control plans.

ETV Brief

BEHIND THE WIG

"The Well-Tempered Bach with Peter Ustinov," a special two-hour program on Mississippi ETV, takes a look at the real Johann Sebastian Bach behind the powdered wig, at 9 p.m., Wednesday, April 24.

Bach, according to Bach expert Clancy Kleinhaus, was much more lighthearted than the traditional image of him portrays. He not only wrote serious chamber music and religious works, but he also wrote pieces for weddings, birthdays and anniversaries.

"Bach once wrote a light little cantata for a wedding on the bagpipes that he called the 'Peasants Cantata,'" she says. "He was known to have fun, and these pieces were as lighthearted as his other works were serious."

Peter Ustinov hosts the program.

Galls halt growth

Phylloxera insect causes pecan tree damage

By James Jarratt
Entomologist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

An insect called phylloxera can attack pecan trees in Mississippi. Two types are the leaf phylloxera and the stem phylloxera. The latter is by far the most damaging in our state.

Unfortunately, the stem phylloxera seems to be spreading into areas that have not previously had problems. Because of the damage that can be caused by this pest, Mississippi homeowners may need to know the biology of the pest in case controls are needed this season.

Overwintering Form
The overwintering form of this insect is the egg, which is contained within the body of a dead female. Eggs can be found in bark crevices, under lichens, at the base of buds or any other site on the tree providing protection. The hatching of these eggs will occur at or shortly before bud break in the spring.

This activity may start sometime between the last few days of March and the first two weeks of April. The entire process is tied to weather conditions. Cooler or warmer than normal temperatures can alter the cycle.

As the eggs hatch, young nymphs crawl onto developing terminal stems and leaves and begin to feed on the new growth. In a very short time after feeding is started, there is a rapid proliferation of plant cells adjacent to the feeding site; hence a gall is formed and new terminal growth on the plant stops. When this growth is stopped, a new pecan crop also is stopped.

Adult Form
The nymphs continue to grow within the gall and reach maturity after several molts. The mature insects, called stem mothers soon begin to lay eggs (beginning a second generation). After hatching, the nymphs of the second generation feed on the wall contents of the galls.

These nymphs undergo several molts, and as they mature, wings are formed. The maturing of the second generation coincides with the opening of the gall.

The winged forms of the insect fly to limbs and leaves around the newly opened galls and begin to lay eggs. These insects are not particularly strong fliers, and if moderate southerly or southwesterly winds are blowing the insects are moved from area to area.

Members of this second generation do not form galls. Their primary function is to lay eggs that hatch into yet a third generation.

Control Methods
Control measures for this pest should be started before the galls start to form. At present insecticide applications are our only means of control.

If greater than 70 percent of the tree (70 stems out of 100 showing galls) was affected in 1984, two spray applications are recommended for this season to control phylloxera.

The first application should be made at bud break, followed by a second application seven to 10 days later. Applications should be made during the warmest part of the day. Timing the first application is very important because a delay of three or four days from bud break could result in a failure to control this pest. If less than 70 percent of the tree was affected, one application would probably be sufficient for control.

The insecticide used for control of phylloxera is Sevin XLR. Amounts of the insecticide to use and further advice on spraying for phylloxera is available from local county Extension Service offices, along with Extension Service publication 461 on the subject.

Easter highlights tradition in Asher community

By Joe Pilet

The four generations of Ashers living as close neighbors in Bay St. Louis include Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Asher, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last year.

Their son Terrence C. Asher, his wife Kathleen and their youngest son Fred are next-door neighbors on the east side of the Curtis Asher home and to the west lives their granddaughter Mrs. David Estapa with their great-grandchildren Tammy and Melissa.

The Asher community is a continuous scene of activities! Wedding anniversaries, birthdays, and holidays such as Christmas and Easter are celebrated as joyous occasions to be shared with relatives and friends who travel from distant places to take part in the festivities.

Easter was such an occasion, followed the next week by birthday parties honoring Tammy, now four-years-old and the older of the two Estapa children.

Birthdays for children are always celebrated twice, one party for adults and another a day later for children.

For example, young Fred's birthday was observed with a buffet supper and "show and tell" for grownups when Fred displayed his stamp collection, and again the next day when his classmates from St. Clare were guests.

Fred was 10 in February.

But Easter was an exceptional occasion that took much preparation, starting with planning at least two weeks in advance.

The spacious grounds were well manicured, annuals were planted and a tour of the area to enjoy the blooming azaleas, iris, mountain laurel and "granddaddy grey beard" was planned.

There would, of course, be a smorgasbord. Each family member prepares a specialty. To accommodate the group, long tables were placed in the studio used primarily for piano lessons.

A seated dinner for many guests of varying ages requires thought—low tables for children—and decorations suitable.

At the long tables were low vases filled with English dogwood and iris. Easter baskets full of colorful eggs and gifts were placed at eye-level for youngsters.

But young and old received large, well-filled baskets of goodies.

Side tables groaned under the weight of large baked turkey and ham and pans of dressing, an endless assortment of salads and vegetables and, yes, there was spaghetti and sauces, and pecan pies, cakes and the banana split cake that made weight watchers abandon their determination.

Tammy's party on Sunday was a gala occasion. Children armed with sticks battered away at a Mexican Pinata made of fancy paper until the container broke and down tumbled a multitude of toys and candies to be gathered by excited and eager children!

There were games, too, such as the American "musical chairs" to the accompaniment of nursery rhymes. And a large and beautifully decorated cake.

The Ashers, a fun loving clan, are looking forward to the next event. Kathleen's piano students will have a recital. That's in June.

"Perhaps we'll include a garden party—have it in the afternoon—with the piano in the gazebo," Kathleen thought—and added, "It's pretty but there, but if the day is hot or if there are insects we'll have to have it in the studio."

Terrence Asher Jr., a student at Mississippi State, manages to fly home for these occasions, as does another relative, Mrs. Sandra Stone of Houston, Tex., and her young son, Joshua.

"We still have some available land near by," smiled Lulu Asher, the matriarch who hopes future generations will settle in "Asherville."

Everything's jake, Rocks enter district win column

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws used a 13-hit attack and the strong pitching of Matt Rosetti to turn back the Hancock North Central Hawks 13-5 in a District 4A baseball game at the Rockchaw diamond Tuesday.

The win for SSC avenged an early season 2-1 loss to the Hawks. St. Stanislaus is now 1-1 in district play, while HNC fell to 0-3.

Leading the attack for the Rocks were Jake Welsh with three hits and three RBI's, YaSin Shabazz with two hits and two RBI's, Mike Weems with two hits and two RBI's, and Donald Pitalo with two hits.

Both Jay Artigues and Pitalo scored three runs each, while Welsh and Shabazz scored twice for St. Stanislaus.

SSC scored their 13 runs on 13 hits. The Rocks scored in every inning, including a five-run second inning, while the Hawks scored in the second, third, fifth, and seventh innings.

Winning pitcher Rosetti boosted his record to 4-2, while Brett Favre absorbed the loss for the Hawks.

Rosetti retired the first three Hawks in order to start the game, as Charles Burton struck out, Melton Lewis singled and advanced to second on Shabazz's error in center field but was later tagged out by shortstop David Pitalo, and Brett Favre was safe on a fielder's choice but was later tagged out by Mark Logan at second base.

SSC took the lead in the bottom of the first when Jay Artigues walked, stole second, and advanced to third on Mark Logan's ground out to first baseman Arthur Lader.

Mike Weems' double to right centerfield scored Artigues. Pinch runner Clinton Edwards was then picked off second base.

David Pitalo then walked, stole second, and scored on Phil Wittmann's double to centerfield. Donald Pitalo's sharp grounder to third baseman Tim Lee barely nabbed Pitalo at first for the third out.

The Hawks fought back for a run in the second inning when Desmond Hoda singled and stole second. Vincent Cuevas popped up to Mike Weems behind the plate. Tim Prince was safe on a fielder's choice, and DH Drew Malley singled home Hoda. Prince was caught trying to advance to third base for the second out. Darrin Mauffray then struck out to end the inning with the Rocks leading 2-1.

SSC exploded for five runs in the bottom of the second inning. Louis Schruft walked and Jake Welsh singled Schruft to third base. Welsh then stole second. YaSin Shabazz's line drive single to left centerfield scored both Schruft and Welsh.

Shabazz then stole second, and Jay Artigues followed with his second walk of the game. Mark Logan's single scored both Shabazz and Artigues. Logan then stole second. Mike Weems followed with a strikeout, and David Pitalo grounded to shortstop Melton Lewis for the second out.

Phil Wittmann's grounder back to the pitcher Brett Favre ended the second inning with the Rocks on top by a score of 7-1.

Hancock fought back for two more runs in the top of the third. Tim Lee led off with a strikeout, and Charles Burton grounded out to shortstop David Pitalo. With two outs, Lewis walked and stole second.

Brett Favre followed with a walk. A passed ball allowed both Lewis and Favre to advance to second and third base. Desmond Hoda's second single of the game scored both Lewis and Favre. Hoda then stole second on the first pitch, but was left stranded when Rosetti struck out Vincent Cuevas.

St. Stanislaus picked up three more runs in the bottom of the third when Donald Pitalo walked and stole second. Louis Schruft struck out. Jake Welsh's double down the right field line scored Pitalo.

YaSin Shabazz followed with his second single of the game, scoring Welsh from third. Jay Artigues bunt single advanced Shabazz to second. Mark Logan's grounder back to the pitcher forced Artigues at second base.

Weems then followed with a single, but was left on base as David Pitalo filed out to Burton in centerfield. At the end of the third inning the Rocks held a 10-3 advantage over the Hawks.

Rosetti held the Hawks scoreless in the fourth inning as Tim Prince struck out, Drew Malley grounded out to the shortstop, and Darrin Mauffray singled. Tim Lee's fly out to Jay Artigues in rightfield ended the inning.

The Rocks picked up a lone run in the bottom of the fourth. Phil Wittmann filed out to the centerfielder Burton, and Donald Pitalo singled to leftfield. Schruft then filed out to rightfield. Pitalo then stole second. Jake Welsh then singled home Pitalo, and Shabazz grounded out to the pitcher to end the inning.

The Hawks came back with a run in the top of the fifth. Charles Burton popped up to Matt Rosetti for the first out, and Melton Lewis followed with his second single of the game. Lewis advanced to second on a passed ball. Brett Favre then walked.

Brett Favre and Lewis advanced to second and third on a double steal, and Lewis scored on Hoda's deep fly out to Don Pitalo in leftfield. An alert relay play from Don Pitalo to David Pitalo caught Favre off the bag at second base for the third out.

Jay Artigues led off the bottom of the fifth with his third walk of the game. Jay Artigues stole second, and Mark Logan grounded out to the second baseman as Artigues went to third base.

Mike Weems struck out, and David Pitalo followed with a single, scoring Artigues from third base. Phil Wittmann then grounded out to the third baseman to end the inning with the Rocks ahead 12-4.

Hancock could not score in the top of the sixth inning. Vincent Cuevas led off with a walk, and pinch hitter Hoda singled. Drew Malley struck out for the first out.

Darrin Mauffray hit a grounder back to Rosetti for the second out, and Tim Lee filed out to Donald Pitalo to end the Hawks scoring threat.

The Rocks picked up their 13th run in the bottom of the sixth as Donald Pitalo led off with his second single of the game and stole second. Louis Schruft then struck out.

Jake Welsh was safe on an error by the first baseman, advancing Pitalo to third. Pitalo came home on a wild pitch, and YaSin Shabazz struck out to end the sixth inning with the Rocks leading 13-4.

Hancock came to bat in the top of the last inning. Charles Burton was hit by a pitch and went to first base. Melton Lewis then walked, putting runners on first and second base. Brett Favre filed out to Shabazz in centerfield for the first out, as the runners advanced to second and third.

Desmond Hoda grounded out to Schruft for the second out. Vincent Cuevas then singled home Burton. Pinch-hitter Hoda's fly out to Shabazz in centerfield ended the game with the Rocks winning 13-5.

SSC coach Mike Gemilli was pleased with his team's performance. "It is nice for us to enjoy our first district win. We are really looking forward to playing St. Martin at our place next Monday. A win over St. Martin would lock us in a tie for the lead in our district. However, we must play aggressive, heads-up baseball in order to win. But there is no doubt in my mind that if we play together and want this game bad enough, that we will come out of this big game with a win."

Monday's game time is 3:30 p.m.

Two score aces at Diamondhead

Members of Diamondhead Ladies Golf Association recently competed in an Even Holes event.

First Flight winners were Marcia Chicks, first; Florence Holt, second; Lee Arnold low putts.

Second Flight— Toni Begley, first; Pat Taylor, second; Joy Shread, low putts.

Third Flight— Jo Gatipon, first; Betty Boudreaux, second; Jean Haag, low putts.

Fourth Flight— Eura Watson, first; Molly Malpie, second; Neuva Sears, low putts.

Closest to the pin was Dorothy Rickson.

Joe Gatipon scored a hole-in-one during the event. She aced the 126-yard par three No. 1 hole on the Pine course with her driver.

This unique accomplishment, the first for Gatipon, was witnessed by Betty Boudreaux and Seabelle Simino.

The rare occurrence of a hole-in-one was repeated Saturday, Apr. 13 when Kathryn (Jake) Riddle aced the 95-yard par three No. 4 hole on the Cardinal course, hitting a Ginty 7 wood to accomplish the feat.

Witnesses included Arnold Riddle of Diamondhead, Nancy Mitchell Nelson of Duluth, Minn., and Leon and Mahden Gyde of San Clemente, Calif. That ace was also the first for Riddle.

Agencies to sponsor boat safety workshop

Do you know:

—That a person who unexpectedly finds themselves immersed in Mississippi Sound waters during the winter months has a survival time of about 90 minutes?

—That there is a 50 percent expectancy of unconsciousness which will probably result in drowning in less than half that time?

—How to operate a Coast Guard water evacuation pump?

—The procedures to follow if you or a member of your crew must be removed from a boat or the water by helicopter?

—How to safely use pyrotechnic signaling devices?

—That the discharge burst from a 5 lb. type II fire extinguisher commonly found on smaller boats lasts only six seconds?

Don't wait until an actual emergency to become familiar with boating safety procedures and requirements.

Make plans to attend the free Boating Safety Workshop being jointly sponsored by Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service/Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Services and District Command Post III of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The program will be on Sunday, May 12, (Mother's Day) from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the J.L. Scott Marine Education Center/Gulf Marine State Park complex on Point Cadet in Biloxi.

This workshop will feature hands-on demonstrations of boating safety equipment such as PFD's, life rafts, fire extinguishers, signaling devices, etc.

All it costs is your time and may well turn out to be one of the best investments of that commodity you'll ever make.

For information contact Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Services at 601-388-4710.

USM summer basketball camp slated for double sessions

University of Southern Mississippi head basketball coach M.K. Turk reports his annual All-American Basketball Camp will be conducted in two sessions this summer.

The first sessions will be June 10-14 while the second session is scheduled for June 24-28.

Turk will serve as the camp director and will be assisted by Golden Eagle assistant coaches Robert McInnis and Ralph Moore. Several other outstanding coaches from the state and throughout the Southeast will also serve on the camp staff.

Special features of the camp include an official game nightly, individualized and team instruction, individual trophies, game and Metro Conference highlight films and a camp all-star game.

The cost of the camp is $150 per session for full-time campers. The fee includes meals, housing, insurance, awards, recreational facilities and a camp T-shirt.

Additional information on the All-American Basketball Camp can be obtained by writing the USM Basketball Office at Southern Station Box 10011, Hattiesburg, Ms. 39406-10011 or by calling 601/266-5017.

THE SPORTING LIFE— Baseball veteran Jim Palmer hosts "The Sporting Life," a new behind-the-scenes sports series, at 8:30 p.m., Thursdays, Beginning April 18, on Mississippi ETV.

Kergosien leads USM thinclads

Southern Mississippi head track and field coach Marshall Bell's 1985 aggregation includes eight letter winners. Leading the returnees is 5-10, 155-pound junior Pat Kergosien of Bay St. Louis who finished third in the Metro last spring in the pole vault with a vault of 15-6, and was 4th in the decathlon with 6,318 points.

He holds school records in the pole vault (16-0 1/2), and decathlon (6,763).

A newcomer to the Golden Eagle thinclad squad this year is freshman Vance Young, also of Bay St. Louis. Young follows Kergosien as a pole vault specialist. Both are St. Stanislaus High School alums.

Another key returnee is 6-2, 165-pound senior Donzelle Moody, who holds school records in the 400-meter dash (49.71) and 400-meter intermediate hurdles (54.42).

The other returning lettermen are 5-9, 160-pound senior sprinter Pat Chism; 6-1, 180-pound sophomore hurdler Ervin Harville; 6-0, 150-pound junior half miler Willis Mitchell; 6-0, 165-pound, sophomore sprinter Mark Moore and 5-10, 160-pound junior sprinter Ples Wilkerson.

Other newcomers this season for the Golden Eagles include football standouts Sam Dejarnette, a 6-1, 185-pound senior, and Tracy Gamble, a 6-0, 195-pound senior. Both will be utilized as sprinters and on relays.

Other first year tracksters include shot putter John Boepple (6-2, 220, fr.); javelin specialist Chuck Bolling (6-2, 185, jr.); distance runner Dean Clifton (6-1, 155); shot put-discuss man Willie Dejarnette (6-0, 250), long and tripple jumper Don Garrett (5-8, 155); pole vaulter-decathlete Douglas Knight (6-1, 175); quarter-miler Craig Martin (5-9, 150); quarter-miler Bruce Smith (5-10, 155), all freshmen; high jumper Calvin Staples (6-4, 185, jr.); and distance runner Trevor DeKoekkoek (6-3, 160, sr.).

The Golden Eagles' next meet is the Arkansas State Invitational Saturday.

The South Alabama Invitational is slated April 27, and the Metro Conference Championships will be held May 9-11 in Tallahassee, Fla.

Loiacano's chaulks important first round playoff victory

In the first round playoff action in the Mississippi Youth Soccer League, Loiacano's Health Spa took a big Under-12 victory over the number one Gulfport team Saturday.

The game was a see-saw affair with Loiacano's gaining the initial advantage on a corner kick delivered by Jason Loiacano to the center of the goal box where Michael Lee scored over the big Gulfport goalie.

The score remained 1-0 until 45 seconds remaining in the first half

With the game tied 2-2, Loiacano's showed some real heart in not letting adversity get them down.

Jonathan Compretta drove the ball down the right wing deep into the Gulfport penalty area, made the goalie commit and sent a perfect pass across the mouth of the goal and David Weems nailed the ball into the back of the net with only 12 seconds remaining in the game to take a 3-2 first round victory.

when Gulfport knotted it up on a corner kick of its own.

The second half was played evenly through the first 15 minutes until Gulfport fouled Jonathan Compretta on their end, resulting in an indirect kick for Loiacano's.

Michael Lee promptly crossed the goal with his shot where Rusty Necaise was perfectly positioned to gain the score.

The outcome looked favorable for Loiacano's at this point until a questionable call gave Gulfport new life with four minutes left in the game.

soccer teams dominated play and remained undefeated after the first weekend of the BAYS hosted U-8 District 4 Soccer Tournament Competition held in Waveland on April 13 and 14. District play continues April 19, 20 and 21.

The Coca Cola-sponsored "Tigers" coached by Bernard "Fireball" Tusa pounced on Biloxi #3 and clawed out a 1-0 victory.

Tiger standouts were goalie Brooks "Sticky Fingers" Quinlan, forward Sonny "Magic Toes"

Schindler, forward Chad "Laser" Patton, fullback Bryan "Bigfoot" Erickson, and halfback Danny "Dynamite" Patton.

The "Tigers" will play on Friday, April 19, at 4:30 p.m. against Gulfport #1 on the Coleman Avenue U-8 field. Be there!

The "Raiders" sponsored by Dental Health Services, and coached by the dynamite duo of Mark and Nancy Uram thrashed Gulfport #3, 1-0.

The "Raiders" were spearheaded by goalie Johnathon "Monster Man" Farve, forward David "Tank" Matheson, sweeper Alan "Speedo" Uram, and halfback Kevin "Silverfoot" Wats.

The "Raiders" next game will be Saturday, April 20, at 1 p.m. in Waveland on the Coleman Avenue U-8 field. They will play Gulfport #2. Don't miss it!

"I can't sleep!" Paul Montjoy, BAYS president, exclaimed. This is the most exciting U-8 District Tournament ever. The Tigers and Raiders are superb and feisty. One of these teams will surely win it all and give BAYS our first District Championship U-8 team.

The U-8 championship game will be played Sunday, April 21, at 1 p.m. again on the Coleman Avenue field. "I encourage everyone in town to come out and cheer our two fine U-8 teams on to victory," Montjoy added.

Under-12

In other District 4 playdown action, the two BAYS girls' teams, U-12 Dillman Roofing "Dynamites," coached by Kathy Edwards and the U-14 Cannon Copier "Cannonballs," coached by Jo-Ann Duncan, are undefeated and ahead in round robin play after 2 of 3 games.

Both teams have clinched a state playoff berth and will be playing for the District Championship.

The games will be played at Milner Stadium in Gulfport. Field No. 4 at 1:30 p.m. will be the site for U-14 and 4:30 p.m. for U-12. Best of luck Ladies!

SHAPE

SPORT HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

As a former teacher, the time and effort that our leaders are giving to the education of our children is heartening to see. I cannot remember when so much attention has been spent on national education since the Sputnik era of the early 1960s. In most cases, teachers consider this a sign that people really care.

Schools should be reviewed on a regular basis. Students, teachers, administrators, parents, curriculums and the entire school system should get a complete going over. On the informal level, we always look for plans of action because formal evaluation tends to attract attention. It is this more formal approach yielding the hard data that is the basis for plans of action.

High tech industries tend to attract the best of our graduates. Education, in many cases, attracts those who tend to be less employable. This tends to be a more economically oriented reason than any other.

It is estimated that our knowledge will soon begin to double every 24 months as the result of communications and rapid job changes. For our current eighth and ninth graders, it means preparing themselves for jobs that may not now exist.

The trend is definitely toward that of specialists, and they start early in almost every field. In sport, how many youngsters will be asked to pick areas of participation when they are so young that they may not have had a chance to try other things. Once in an area, they are convinced to the exclusion of all other activities, they will succeed at that event, and refuse to attempt or even like any other. As in education, a balanced approach to youth sport is needed in many areas of the country. In education, often the same approach is not taken. When it is, it has been interfered with by other outside activities designed to produce specialists at an early age.

The solution — as in education — is in diversity. Physical education can be as important as any other subject taught. Good diversified instruction can provide a "street value" worth thousands of dollars in lessons. Club activities taught at an early age seem to make more sense than intense concentration on one area of sport.

Let's ask the question: How many childhood stars were still active in their sport as adults? Not many. The burnout syndrome that occurs because of this early age intensity has often robbed lasting enjoyment by these youngsters. © Copyright 1985 Suburban Features

Vitamins are essential to human life, but their role in the body is often misunderstood. They do not provide energy or "pep," nor serve as building blocks for any part of the body. They aid in changing foods into energy and raw materials for body maintenance. There are at least 13, and probably others we have yet to discover.

The average eater probably has no need for supplemental vitamins. Vitamin deficient diseases rarely are seen in the United States. Many people, however, believe they should take extra vitamins to be safe.

One caution against taking vitamin supplements has to do with the interrelationships between vitamins, minerals, and hormones. We can compare these to three separate airlines. While each runs by itself, they are not totally independent. Some of the cities they serve are similar, but their flight patterns are quite different. Also, the schedule each uses helps one to make connections.

One of these three represents vitamins, another minerals, and the last hormones. Vitamins depend on other vitamins following the same flight patterns. Minerals also rely on other minerals for optimum balance. Although the airline schedules are complicated, the activity of these three nutrients are much more complex.

Suppose you decide to take an extra amount of vitamin C. This will alter the requirements of other vitamins, which is like changing the flight pattern between Atlanta and Chicago. All other intersecting flights must be altered. In addition, an increase in vitamin C will also affect the other airlines, and they must adapt in order to prevent a collision. Time connections might also be changed to provide smoothness.

Actually we don't know how many changes are required in the body by nutrients and hormones when a vitamin is altered. Adjustment is not immediate, but may take weeks or months. Therefore, it's hard to justify abrupt changes in vitamin supplements just to be safe.

COASTAL ENVIRONMENT

Living with the Alabama-Mississippi Shore, a historical overview of the coastal environment of these two states, was published recently by the Duke University Press.

Portions of the book related to shoreline dynamics and coastal geology were based in part on research conducted over the past decade by Dr. Ervin G. Otvos, head of the geology section of Gulf Coast Research laboratory in Ocean Springs.

Several of Dr. Otvos' publications were listed in the reference section of the book for additional information concerning coastal development.

Other GCRRL staff members cited in the reference section for research documents providing valuable resources about shoreline living and management include Charles Eleuterius, head of the GCRRL physical oceanography section, and J.Y. Christmas Jr., GCRRL assistant director emeritus for fisheries research and management.

The book is the eighth volume in the 'Living with the Shore' series which will include over 20 books to be published under the general editorship of Orrin H. Pilkey Jr. of Duke University and William J. Neal of Grand Valley State College of Michigan.

When completed, the series will cover the entire Atlantic, Pacific and Great Lakes shorelines.

The richly illustrated volume contains specific guidelines for building and buying at the shore with maximum protection for life and property, including site safety maps and detailed coastline descriptions.

Up-to-date advice on land use and laws and a discussion of the dynamics of shoreline change are incorporated into the text.

Guides to federal, state and local agencies involved in coastal development are included, along with a hurricane hazard checklist, photographs, drawings, maps and further reference listings.

Professional offers early season air conditioning maintenance tips

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is authored by Bill Gilthorpe, Pearlinton air conditioning specialist. As the author notes in his section on solutions to problems, the suggestions are offered only as a guide for professional service personnel to enlighten the consumer on extent of the problem. This article should not be construed as a "crash course" in refrigeration service techniques.

Protecting Your Air Conditioning Investment

By Bill Gilthorpe
Whatever the SEER rating (efficiency rating) of central air conditioning equipment, the consumer must determine if:

1. The unit is operating properly and
2. If the unit is realizing its efficiency.

According to Extension Service studies more than half of all central systems operate in the neighborhood of 30 percent below design capabilities. So what can the consumer do?

Simple Inspection

The best way to make a judgement is to inspect the machine. A simple checklist can provide valuable information which could lead to an operation cost savings of 30 percent—and may, in some cases, prevent a compressor burnout.

I Condensing Unit

Warning: Turn thermostat to the "Off" position.

A. Condensing Coil— This is the easiest part to inspect. Note: Dirt on fin causes air blockages. Look for oily areas on copper lines especially in joints.

B. Condensing Fan— Break the power supply to the unit. Tap the fan with your fingers. It should rotate freely. Listen for noises, like a dry bearing.

C. Compressor— This component is inside a weatherproof panel and does not require preventive maintenance.

II Blower and Evaporator Setup

Warning: Turn thermostat to the "Off" position and disconnect the electric power source.

A. Blower and Motor— This is a dirty job but well worth the consumer's effort. For a horizontal furnace, climb in the attic and open the blower service door.

With the power to the heater disconnect, run index finger inside a blower vane.

If it is dusty the evaporator coil is dirty. Bells should sound in the homeowner's head and his wallet pocket should overheat.

One more thing, check the motor bearings in the same fashion as listed for the condensing fan.

B. Evaporator Coil— This is a difficult inspection. If the blower was dirty, unfiltered air has left deposits on the coil.

The crust, wet during the refrigeration cycle, provides an excellent medium for fungal growth (if allergenic, this may be causing runny nose).

Due to the design of the horizontal coil setup there is not inspection hole. For a horizontal coil setup cut an inspection hole in the top of the transition or open a seam in the transition. (See diagram). I prefer cutting a hole.

With the aid of a strong service light inspect the coils. Note dirt, dust or hair in the coil.

Vertical unit presents a different set of problems. Some coil boxes have an inspection plate (many of which are too small to be useful).

In most instances the coil must be inspected by removing the top of the plenum (supply duct). The coil usually looks clean on the surface even if the fins are clogged. With the aid of a beamed light, look into the depth of the fins. If in doubt, and if the blower had signs of dust, consider the coil dirty.

III Duct System

A. Supply Duct— If properly designed, the duct system distributes the air from the evaporator to the registers with a minimum of restriction.

Even with an abundance of common sense, the consumer usually cannot distinguish a good from a bad duct system (don't feel bad, many service men can't either).

Since the duct system does not change, it usually pays to have someone check the design of the system. An undersized duct system will cause a gross loss of capacity (converting a 4-ton to a 3-ton system) and contribute to a shorter-than-normal compressor life.

B. Return Duct— This is easy.

Measure the chase or return duct. The area ratio should be 150 square inches per ton.

The filter grill should allow 200 square inches per ton, especially if you have a high efficiency unit. Inspect chase or duct for leakage. Unfiltered air will cause major problems in the evaporator coil and blower assembly.

C. Filter— The most neglected, yet easiest maintained component of an air conditioning system. A dirty filter allows dust to penetrate the blower and evaporator coil (converting a 4-ton to a 3-ton system).

SOLUTIONS

Very few people are competent do-it-yourselfers. When working on air conditioning equipment, I recommend that the homeowner employ the service of a trained, experienced professional.

The list of solutions is a guideline for the service person and gives the consumer some insight to the problems, but should not be construed as crash course in refrigeration service technique.

I. Condensing Unit

Warning: Disconnect the electric power source and turn thermostat to the "Off" position.

A. Coil— Clean the coil without soaking the fan motor or the compressor compartment. Wet the coil with a strong detergent. Use maximum water pressure from a hose to rinse and dislodge dirt.

On the older units the protective grid encasing the coil is easy to remove. If this can be done, simply brush the coil in the direction of the fins. Do not bend the fins with the water spray or brush.

B. Fan— Oil the bearings if the motor has oil ports. Most new fans are sealed and require no maintenance.

C. Compressor— Only a professional should ever enter the compressor compartment. This component is not on the list of preventive maintenance items.

II Blower and Evaporator
Warning: Disconnect the electric power source and turn thermostat to the "Off" position.

A. Blower— Inspect the blower first. A dusty blower indicates a dirty evaporator. If the blower motor has oil ports, add small amounts of high speed motor oil (turbine oil).

Clean each vane in the blower squirrel cage. This is a tough, time-consuming job, even for a professional. Incorporate the use of a screwdriver, an old toothbrush and the index finger.

The only way to remove the loose soot from the blower (on horizontal equipment) is to blow it out. Remove accessible bulk soot with the fingers. Open an inspection hole (see diagram) in the transition, cover the coil with newspaper and turn the fan on allowing the loose soot to escape the inspection port.

To clean soot from the vertical system, extract the blower housing, if possible. Be careful of the electrical wiring to the motor. If this cannot be done, clean each vane using the toothbrush method.

Fit a vacuum cleaner hose with 1/2 inch diameter tubing to probe the interior of the blower. Make every effort to remove all the soot before operating. Soot left in the blower with a scrub brush. Do not bend the fins. Remove the soot from the system. The skilled service person should soak down the coil with detergent, run the hose into the attic and spray down the coil with the force of a nozzle.

Vertical: Clean the aramine as described above. If the coil housing is fitted with an inspection plate carefully work (and catch with newspaper) the soot off the coil with a dry scrub brush. Do not bend fins. Only a professional can properly clean a vertical coil.

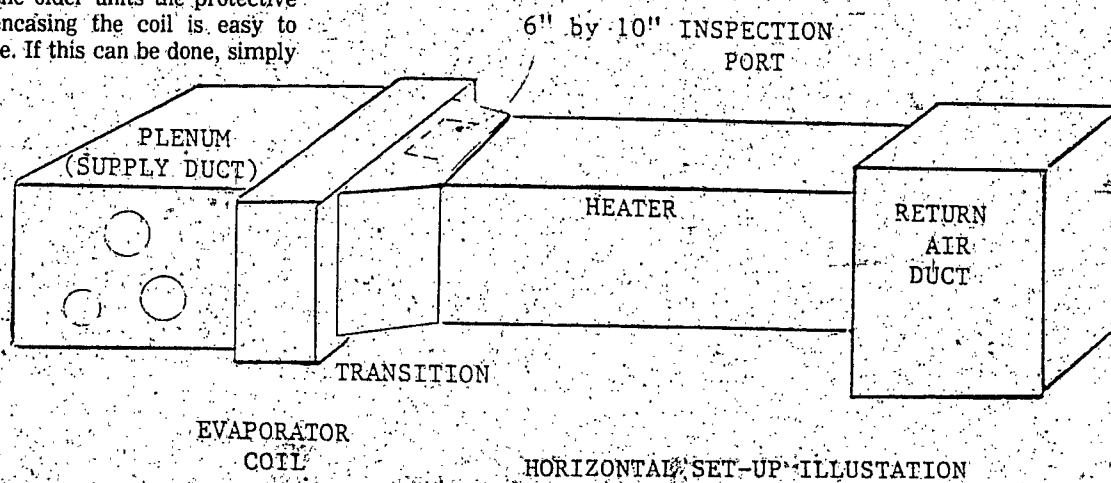

III Duct System

Supply Duct System— If your electric bill is always more costly than your neighbor's, you had better invest in the services of a professional to check the duct design. A poorly designed duct system could easily increase your utility bill an average of $15 per month from May to October.

B. Return Duct System— The only way to improve a small return system is by adding to or modifying the original system. The return duct can never be sized too big.

C. Filter— The filter, when left dirty, is a compressor killer. Clean or replace regularly.

Note: A small return duct and/or filter grill will cause an increased air velocity which will cause the soot to bypass the filter.

brush the coil in the direction of the fins. Do not bend the fins with the water spray or brush.

B. Fan— Oil the bearings if the motor has oil ports. Most new fans are sealed and require no maintenance.

C. Compressor— Only a professional should ever enter the compressor compartment. This component is not on the list of preventive housing will end up on the evaporator coil causing more damage.

B. Evaporator— Horizontal: Disconnect the drain line (cut if you have to) and blow the tubing clean with compressed air. Open a seam in the transition or cut an inspection port in the top of the transition. With an access hole clean the coil

SSC-OLA dramatists to present 'Carousel'

The combined Drama Club of St. Stanislaus High School and Our Lady Academy will present Rogers and Hammerstein's 'Carousel' Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Apr. 24-26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Brother Peter gym.

The cast includes David Bradke and Scott Comeaux alternating in the lead role of Billy Bigelow, and Dawn Hardy as Julie Jordan.

Nicole Delbert appears as Carrie Pipperidge, with Will Ardo as her intended, Mr. Snow.

Maria Benvenuti and Alicein Schwabacher alternate in the role of Julie's cousin, Nettie Fowler.

Andre Vial and Larry Logue appear as Jigger Cragin; Terese Richardson and Sabrina Kersanac perform the role of Mrs. Mullin, the owner of the "Carousel."

Tickets for the performances will be available at the St. Stanislaus school office beginning Monday or they may be purchased at the door. Adult tickets are $3; students, $2.

YOUR HEALTH
Someone remarked the other day that he didn't know Chiropractic care could do anything for headaches. Similar remarks may be heard from time to time concerning other conditions of the body. Even patients, upon recovery from one ailment through Chiropractic, are sometimes unaware that adjustments also can correct the cause of Nerve Interference which creates other illnesses and conditions! The point is that Chiropractic care is not really limited to correcting backaches as most people think, but is an all around health service. Doctors of Chiropractic realize there are conditions necessitating surgery and will not hesitate to recommend these services when they deem it necessary. In fact, your doctor of Chiropractic would not accept your case if he didn't feel it would be the best all around approach to your problems.

"MAKING CONNECTION"

Don Roberts, District Manager

STRAIGHT ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Is it confusing to do business with the telephone company? We hope the answer is no, but we realize that for some of our customers, the answer may be yes.

It's been over a year since South Central Bell and the other local telephone companies were divested from AT&T, and many things have changed.

WHO OWNS YOUR TELEPHONE?

Many people are especially concerned about their telephone sets—how to get them repaired, who owns them, etc. While it may seem odd, South Central Bell no longer owns or has responsibility for telephone sets. If you bought your set from either South Central Bell or AT&T or another supplier, you own it and are responsible for getting it repaired. If you still lease your set, AT&T owns it and you should call them if you need repair work done.

WHAT IF YOUR TELEPHONE SERVICE GOES OUT?

WHO DO YOU CALL AND WHAT ARE THE CHARGES?

First you need to determine whether the problem is in your telephone set. If the problem does not seem to be in the set, call South Central Bell repair service. Our repair center can run a number of sophisticated, computerized tests on your line to find the problem. If the problem is anywhere between the telephone company central office and the connector box on the outside of your house, we will fix the problem at no charge to you.

If our tests show that the problem is in the wiring inside of your house, you have several choices. You can have one of our technicians do the work for a service fee, you can have someone else like an electrician do the work, or you can do the work yourself. Because many customers don't want to worry about this and wouldn't want to pay for a repair visit, we offer a 60¢ per month maintenance agreement. If you have the maintenance agreement, we will come and fix your inside wire at no additional charge.

WHAT ABOUT LONG DISTANCE CALLS?

South Central Bell has two Calling Zones in Mississippi, one along the Gulf Coast and one that includes the rest of the state. We provide long distance service inside each Calling Zone, but we can't provide service between the Calling Zones in Mississippi or to another state. AT&T Communications provides service between the two Calling Zones in Mississippi, and many other common carriers provide long distance calling between states.

WHO DO YOU CALL FOR ANSWERS?

Probably the easiest place for you to find information about who to call for what is the Customer Guide section of your telephone directory.

The key word in today's telephone industry is choice. While making choices isn't always easy, it does mean you can get the telephone service and equipment that best suits your lifestyle and your pocketbook.

Summer classes rescheduled after strike

A teacher strike that delayed graduation schedules in many state school districts has prompted revisions in the University of Southern Mississippi's extensive summer classroom schedule.

USM's Division of Continuing Education and Public Service, headed by Dean Gene Tinnon, has cancelled or changed the dates of more than a dozen summer intensive courses at the Hattiesburg, Gulf Park and Natchez campuses, primarily to accommodate students and teachers affected by the lengthy strike.

"Most changes result from the teacher strike and the fact that many teachers and students would still be in school," explained Donna Garvey, director of the division's Department of On-Campus Credit.

The summer program, which served an estimated 2,500 students on all USM campuses last year, annually features a variety of three-hour graduate and undergraduate courses for periods of no less than three weeks. Fees are based on $45 per semester hour at the undergraduate level and $54 per hour at the graduate level.

Dr. Garvey said the May Intersession course schedule, originally set from May 13 to May 31, has been rescheduled for May 20 to June 7 and will include courses on computing, management, sociology, geography, job interviewing skills and computer technology.

Among courses that have been cancelled are Special Problems (Raising Student Achievement Levels through Teacher Effectiveness), College of Education and Psychology, Hattiesburg campus; Food Preservation, School of Home Economics, Hattiesburg campus; and one theatre workshop scheduled for June 3-21, College of Fine Arts, USM-Gulf Park Campus.

Dates for the following courses were changed to accommodate late high school graduates and teachers:

USM-Gulf Park
College of Education and Psychology
Workshop in Learning Resources in Early Childhood Education from June 10-18 to June 17-July 1
Student Development Seminar and Procedures for Teachers and Administrators from June 24-July 8 to June 24-July 15

Workshop in Counseling Procedures/Marriage and Human Sexuality (adolescent sexuality), from June 10-28 to June 24-July 12;

Phonics for Elementary Teachers, from June 12-July 5 to June 19-July 10;

College of Fine Arts
Theatre Workshops, June 17-July 5 and July 15-Aug. 2, sites changed from USM Jackson County and Perkinston campus of Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College to McCaughan Elementary School

School of Health, PE and Recreation
Marriage and Human Sexuality/Workshop in Counseling Procedures (adolescent sexuality), from June 10-28 to June 24-July 12; and Workshop in Counseling Procedures (adolescent sexuality), from June 10-28 to June 24-July 12.

Supreme Court On Student Searches

I smiled when I read last month's Supreme Court decision in T.L.O. v. New Jersey. The ruling struck me as the right decision at the right time, a piece of common sense that helps teachers teach without jeopardizing the fundamental democratic values our schools should be teaching young people to respect and cherish.

In T.L.O., you may remember, the High Court considered a very basic question: does the Fourth Amendment prohibition against "unwarranted searches apply to students in the school setting?"

The Supreme Court's answer was firm and unambiguous. The proposition that students are protected against unreasonable searches and seizures by public school officials is, said the Court, "beyond dispute."

But the Court did not stop there. The Justices sought to strike a balance between "the school-child's legitimate expectations of privacy and the school's equally legitimate need to maintain an environment in which learning can take place." In short, the Justices agreed to walk a legal tightrope. And at no point did they stumble.

The Court recognized that "without first establishing discipline and maintaining order, teachers cannot begin to educate their students." On the basis of this insight, the Court granted school officials the right to initiate a student search—though never one that is "excessively intrusive"—if they have "reasonable grounds for suspecting that the search will turn up evidence that the student has violated or is violating the law or the rules of the school."

The Court took special care to keep the line between parental authority and school authority firm and distinct.

What we need today is not teachers acting in place of parents but teachers acting in concert with parents.

The burden now rests with local school districts to offer public forums that bring teachers, parents, school board members, and other concerned citizens together to establish guidelines consonant with the principles articulated in the Court's decision. Together, we can formulate policies that ensure a school environment conducive to learning and display unwavering fidelity to the Bill of Rights.

We need to work toward both these goals. Each is critically important. Disorderly schools stifle students' opportunities to learn. But let's also never forget that schools that do not respect our nation's basic democratic principles teach the wrong lessons. Schools—precisely because of their pivotal role in preparing young people for responsible citizenship—must scrupulously protect and defend constitutional mandates. If they do not, they will—in the words of a 1943 lower court decision—"strangle the young mind at its source and teach youth to discount important principles of our government as mere platitudes."

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.
Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION—The effect of an alcoholic drink on the body will be increased when a barbiturate is taken at the same time. Which of the following drugs also increase the effects of alcohol?

- a) Tranquilizers
- b) Antihistamines
- c) Sedatives
- d) All of the above

ANSWER—Alcohol and barbiturates both act as depressants on the central nervous system. They intensify each other and when taken together can sometimes bring death. This also is true for tranquilizers, antihistamines, and sedatives.

Correct answer - d.

QUESTION—What proportion of America's 11 million alcoholics live a skid-row existence?

- a) 1 out of 20
- b) 6 out of 20
- c) 12 out of 20
- d) 18 out of 20

ANSWER—Contrary to the popular conception of alcoholics and their lifestyles, less than 5% live a skid-row type existence.

Correct answer - a.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR COASTAL WETLANDS PERMIT AND WATER QUALITY CERTIFICATION

Toxie Hall has filed an application with the Bureau of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provisions of the coastal Wetlands Protection Law, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972.

The applicant is requesting permission to deepen and widen two existing canals of Campbell's Bayou at Hertz Bay Estates in Anclay, Hancock County, Mississippi.

In compliance with Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1341), as amended by PL 95-27, Toxie Hall requested certification from the Bureau of Pollution Control that the above mentioned activity will be in compliance with applicable provisions of Section 301 (33 U.S.C. 1311), Section 302 (33 U.S.C. 1312), Section 303 (U.S.C. 1313), Section 306 (33 U.S.C. 1316), and Section 307 (33 U.S.C. 1317) of the Act and appropriate requirements of the State Law.

Any person wishing to make comments or objections to the proposed regulated activity must submit those comments in writing to the Bureau of Marine Resources at P.O. Box 564, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39320, and the Bureau of Pollution Control at P.O. Box 1038, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 before 1:00 p.m. on the 24th day of April, 1985.

THE HEIRS AT LAW OF LARRY MITCHELL WILSON, DECEASED, WHOSE NAMES, ADDRESSES AND ADDRESSES ARE UNKNOWN TO THE PLAINTIFF, AND ANY AND ALL PERSONS CLAIMING OR CLAIMING A RIGHT, TITLE, OR ANY INTEREST EITHER LEGAL OR EQUITABLE, IN OR TO THE ESTATE OF LARRY MITCHELL WILSON, DECEASED, DEFENDANTS

SUMMONS NO. 17,475

(Service by Publication: Resident Unknown) To: The heirs at law of LARRY MITCHELL WILSON, DECEASED, whose names, identities, and addresses are unknown to the Plaintiff, after diligent search and inquiry made by her, and any and all persons having or claiming any right, title, or any interest, either legal or equitable, in or to the Estate of LARRY MITCHELL WILSON, DECEASED, whose names, identities, and addresses are unknown to the Plaintiff after diligent search and inquiry made by her. You have been made Defendants in the lawsuit filed in this Court by ELLEN KATHRYN WILSON, Plaintiff, whose address is 801 Timberly Road South, Mobile, AL 36609.

The Complaint filed against you has initiated a civil action alleging claims to establish or denying each allegation in the Complaint to Walter W. Dukes, Plaintiff's Attorney, whose address is 2308 East Beach Boulevard, P.O. Drawer 7, Gulfport, MS 39502.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE 11TH DAY OF APRIL, 1985, WHICH IS THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS SUMMONS. IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE MONEY OR OTHER RELIEF DEMANDED IN THE COMPLAINT.

You must also file the original of your Answer with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time after the date of April 18, 1985.

Hancock-Harrison group studies Alabama, Florida beaches

CHECKING FACILITIES—Santa Rosa Beaches in Florida are checked by, from left, Jeff Taylor, Gulf Regional Planning Commission representative; Clarice Gustin, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive director; Buddy Klein, Hancock County Gulf Regional Commission member; Hancock Supervisor Sam Perniclaro; and Butch Raley, Biloxi Recreational department.

SANTA ROSA ISLAND—Hancock-Harrison residents admiring the sand beach of Santa Rosa county, Fla., were from left, Buddy Klein, Lois Young, Mark Young, Clarice Gustin, and Kirby Blinich.

GULF SHORES MAYOR—Thomas B. Norton, center, mayor of Gulf Shores, Ala. greets representatives from Hancock and Harrison counties studying possibilities of beachfront restoration for both counties.

COMMON SIGN IN FLORIDA—The many sand beaches in Florida contain signs putting emphasis on no glass, vehicles, or animals on their beaches.

DESTIN SANDBEACH—Hancock County members of the Hancock-Harrison Sandbeach Technical Advisory Council checked out the beaches at Destin, Fla., Thursday. Among those making the two-day trip, which was co-sponsored by the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources, were from left, Buddy Klein, Gulf Regional Planning Committee member; Clarice Gustin, advisory member; Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniclaro, and Dorothy Sutton, advisory member. Some 25 members made the trip which included stops at Gulf Shores, Ala.; Pensacola Beach, Santa Rosa Island, Fort Walton Beach, and Destin Beach in Florida.

Good planting practices Key to successful garden

By Milo Barnham

Gardening success may depend more on how the plants are planted than what is planted.

It is important to plant recommended vegetable varieties in a garden because they have proven themselves to be more disease resistant or higher yielding. But if planted too early or too late, too shallow or too deep, and other recommendations on planting are ignored good seed does not have a chance.

Gardeners frequently wonder if they should use transplants or seed when planting certain vegetables in the garden. With vegetables that take a long time to grow from seed to harvest using transplants has a definite time advantage.

The time period from planting to harvest can be shortened by as many weeks as it takes to grow the transplant. With tomatoes this is about six weeks and with eggplant and pepper, 10 to 12 weeks can be saved.

With cucumbers, squash and melons three weeks can be saved because these plants can not be much beyond the small plant stage when set out. Be careful when handling the plants or nothing will be gained.

Squash, melons and cucumbers should not have their roots disturbed when transplanted or they may go into shock and never recover. Do not try to start onions, cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower in the spring garden by planting seed rather than transplants or failure will be certain.

The warm days of early spring lead many gardeners to make another planting mistake. The air may be warm but seeds germinate in the soil, and if the soil is cool seeds of Southern peas, lima beans, okra, melons and snap beans will not germinate.

While turnips will germinate in five days in 50 degree soil, lima beans will not germinate at all and take 30 days to germinate in 59 degree soil. Gardeners who plant too early will be replanting when the soil finally does warm up. Black plastic mulch does warm the soil and to per-hands after handling treated seed and never allow animals or wildlife to eat treated seed.

A seed contains the plant embryo and the food to feed it. If the soil covering the seed is heavy and full of clay or if the seed is covered with too much soil, the germinating seedling may be unable to reach the soil surface.

Small seeds like those of turnips, carrots and mustard should not be covered with more than one-fourth mit earlier planting than normally recommended.

Cold soils also affect those early tomatoes, eggplant and pepper transplants. Roots of warm weather plants set in cold soils cannot absorb the water and nutrients needed to help the plants establish themselves and survive. Cold soils are generally the reason early tomato plants turn yellow or purple, then wilt and die.

When it comes to planting vegetable seeds the more colorful the seed the better the chance of success. Many seed companies treat their seed with a fungicide and the presence of the fungicide in addition to being mentioned on the container can be detected by a bright pink or purple color of the seed.

There are a lot of fungi in the soil and some of them can attack and destroy the germinating seed. A fungicide on the seed can reduce or eliminate the fungi caused damage. Gardeners should always wash their inch of soil. Large seeds of snap beans, lima beans and Southern peas can be planted an inch deep but seldom any deeper.

If the garden soil has a tendency to pack or crust the gardener will get better germination if the seeds are covered with potting soil or a mixture of rotted sawdust and soil or a mix of peat moss and vermiculite in place of the garden soil.

Whether the seeds were planted several to a hill at the recommended hill spacing or if they were planted close together in a line or drill, the extra plants must be removed.

In some cases the plants removed in thinning can be used as transplants or they can be eaten if they are leafy greens or just discarded. Do not be tempted to leave the plants too close together. Do not figure that if the rows are further apart the plants can be closer together in the row.
